

Tony Mannuccia
Chief Financial Officer

Tony Mannuccia was appointed Chief Financial Officer of Siemens Hearing Instruments, Inc. (SHI) in March, 2011. An accomplished financial executive, Tony joined SHI in 2007 and has been with the Siemens family for nearly 30 years.

As CFO, Tony oversees all financial aspects of the Company in North America. In addition to providing overall financial leadership and direction for SHI, he is responsible for maintaining strong financial accountability in various departments including Accounting, Controlling, Regulatory Compliance, Procurement, Information Technology and Credit/Collections.

Throughout his tenure with Siemens, Tony has consistently excelled in a variety of senior leadership roles. Before his appointment to CFO, Tony served as SHI's Controller for over three years. During this time, he successfully streamlined processes and accounting, implemented new programs and harmonized reporting and compensation.

Prior to SHI, Tony worked for several other Siemens companies in various financial and commercial capacities. In 2005, he was assigned the Controller role at Siemens Demag Delaval. He has also been employed in numerous finance and business administrative roles including Director level positions with both Siemens Communications and Siemens Healthcare.

Tony received his Bachelor of Science from Manhattan College and earned his MBA in Corporate Finance from Fordham University.
