Siemens Healthcare Diagnostics is committed to providing advanced educational opportunities for our customers. This commitment continues with our 2009 Satellite Symposium at the XXII ISTH Congress.

Join your colleagues to hear healthcare experts discuss the latest topics in hemostasis and participate in an interactive panel discussion.

While you're at the Congress, don't miss the chance to visit our booth to learn more about our broad portfolio of innovative hemostasis solutions that fit like they were made just for your lab.

We understand that every hemostasis lab is different. That's why we offer the largest selection of analyzers and assays in the industry. From small labs with routine testing needs, to fully automated specialty labs — we've got you covered. With a history of innovative leadership for more than 30 years, we understand your lab's unique needs and deliver the high quality results you expect.
