Gregory Sorensen to Head Siemens Healthcare U.S. and Canada Organizations

Practicing neuroradiologist and active researcher joins Siemens Healthcare

Malvern, Pa., May 12, 2011 — Siemens Healthcare has appointed Gregory Sorensen, MD, as chief executive officer (CEO) of Siemens Healthcare in the U.S.A., effective June 1. Sorensen succeeds Randy Hill, who has served as interim CEO. Dr. Sorensen will also oversee the Canadian activities of Siemens Healthcare.

Sorensen will be responsible for leading the marketing, sales, service, and support functions for Siemens Healthcare in the U.S.A, across the entire Healthcare portfolio including medical imaging, therapy, healthcare information technology, and laboratory diagnostics. He will be based at the U.S. headquarters in Malvern, Pa.

“Dr. Sorensen is well known in the industry for his innovative research on medical imaging and for his expertise in clinical practice. It is a great privilege for me to welcome him to Siemens Healthcare,” said Tom Miller, CEO, Customer Solutions, Siemens Healthcare Sector.

Sorensen is currently serving as Professor of Radiology and Health Sciences & Technology at Harvard Medical School; faculty member of the Harvard-MIT Division of Health Sciences and Technology; and Co-Director of the A.A. Martinos Center for Biomedical Imaging at Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH).

Dr. Sorensen is a practicing neuroradiologist and active researcher with significant experience in clinical care, clinical trials, and translational research. His research and techniques are utilized by scores of centers throughout the world in phase II and III trials of novel oncology agents such as gene therapy.

The Siemens Healthcare Sector is one of the world's largest suppliers to the healthcare industry and a trendsetter in medical imaging, laboratory diagnostics, medical information technology and hearing aids. Siemens offers its customers products and solutions for the entire range of patient care from a single source – from prevention and early detection to diagnosis, and on to treatment and aftercare. By optimizing clinical workflows for the most common diseases, Siemens also makes healthcare faster, better and more cost-effective. Siemens Healthcare employs some 48,000 employees worldwide and operates around the world. In fiscal year 2010 (to September 30), the Sector posted revenue of 12.4 billion euros and profit of around 750 million euros. For further information please visit: www.siemens.com/healthcare.
